Flying Goblins and Dead Undead

Welcome Blood sports fans. Well all in all it was an exciting first week of Blood Bowl. All of the teams in our Dragon BBL came out blood thirsty and ready for more killing and maiming this season. We have had six deaths and sixteen serious injuries! If this trend keeps up the teams that face each other at the end of the season will look very different than what they do right now. None the less we have an Apothecary tent for that sort of discussion. We also have a great Highlight this week from our friends at Cabalvision. On to our Results of the week and don't forget to check out Maurice's Predictions, he promises he will get better as the season gets going.

HIGHLIGHT OF THE WEEK

ONE TURN TOUCHDOWN!

The one turn touch down by the goblin Steve of Picken Flicks is our highlight this week. (Top) The goblin Paul picked up the Supersonics kick off, seeing the scoring opportunity since the Supersonics defense was wide open. He rushed the ball over to the waiting hands of goblin Steve. Steve then nods to ogre Gates that he was ready for take off. Ogre Gates reached down and grabbed Steve by the scruff of the neck and hurled him four squares forward. Steve then landed squarely and took off like a little green rocket towards the end zone. So surprised at this feat of physicality (and luck) that wood elves Orgopher and Thranduilseed didn't even move a muscle towards Steve. Steve ran across the line scoring the winning touch down, his third of the season. If Coach Dragon can keep his players doing this kind of thing then we are in for an entertaining season. This is a perfect example of not being prepared for the tactics of the team you are taking on. Had Coach Blueberry Muffin known of the throwing goblin option surely he would have made it more difficult for Coach Dragon to score. Coach Blueberry Muffin and his Supersonics won't see the Picken Flicks again until possibly the play offs. The lesson learned in this match will most likely be taken to the defensive play books of the other coaches in C Division.

Maurice's Predictions

Machine vs Steins : These two go back and for the like an old married couple. I think it is the Machine's turn. I say Machine.

Blighters vs Drakkar: Blighters proved in their last matchup they can score. Drakkar are missing a player and have a beat up team. I say Blighters Barnacles vs Surly: Should be a good match. But I think the Barnacles have the Surly's number. I say Barnacles.

Mates vs Killers : Old rivalries here. I think the killers want revenge for last season's play offs. I say Killers.

Flesh vs Paladins: Paladins are a little short in the line up but Coach tyrion can beat Undead teams. (at a cost though) I say Paladins.

Bonestealers vs Hunt: Short of assassinating Coach Nygrell Grimskull I doubt the Hunt could pull off a victory here. I say Bonestealers.

Divas vs Babes: Girl on girl action! I would rather it be on Cabalvision's late night programming but... With all of the Divas injured players it will be tough. I say Babes.

Bloods vs Flamboyants: the danderlion eaters are tough and the bottom feeders can score. I say a draw.

Smashers vs Midgets: Smashers are a tough team and the Midgets still have to prove themselves. I say Smashers.

Boozhounds vs Howlers: Orc vs Orc now this is Blood Bowl! Two veteran coaches and one orc team stronger and more experienced. I say Boozhounds.

Dicers vs Videos: If the Dicers are solid on defense and play the clock they could take 'em. It will be interesting to see. I say Dicers.

Sharks vs Harem: Chow time! I say Sharks

March vs Dervishes: Halfling stew anyone? The halflings will have to be lucky their whole season I think. I say March.

Innacurate vs Zone: Innacurate are short a few players which might spell their doom. I say Zone.

Cadavers vs Sparmosaurs: Cadavers may have learned a lesson or two from their last match. I say Cadavers.

Desir vs Shorty: The Shorty are unpredictable but Coach Baboune is a veteran. I say Desir.

Flicks vs Vikings: Here comes another rookie coach for Coach Dragon to play mind games with. Those Norse know how to fight though. I say Vikings Sonics vs Bakers: Well goody goody danderlion eaters vs chaos dwarves eh? I think the danderlion eaters will have to dance a little not to get killed. I say Bakers.

Well that's all for this week see you on the pitch or at Maurice's.
